THE DYNAMITE SCARE.

Public opinion is much puzzled by the way in which the treasury detective authorities have published evidence concerning the supposed latest dynamite plot. The obvious intention on the part of the treasury has been to damage the Irish cause and connect, as far as possible, the Parneilite party with Neville and other conspirators. From the point of view of the police the publication was extremely foolish. It is thought that, having been notoriously unsuccessful, they are anxious to impress the public with their cleverness.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., October 28.—The pro-tracted absence of the schooner C. H. John-Bayview Rolling-mills, is becoming a matter of surmise here and causes anxiety among those having friends on board. According to a bill of lading on file here, the Johnson finished loading and was ready to leave Cieveland for Milwaukee on the 28th of September, exactly one month ago. As two severe gales have swept over the lakes since the beginning of October, there is good reason to tear that a serious disaster has befailen the schooner. The Johnson is a vessel of old Welland Canal style build, measuring 316 net tons burthen. She was built at Marine City by Morley in 1878 and valued at $7,000. Proposed Diversion of the Fund to the Entertainment of the National Political Conventions.—What the Committee Members Say—A Circular Letter to the Members of the Republican National Committee.

The committee having charge of the arrangements for the entertainment of the Grand Army of the Republica will have, before it finally cases to exist, to solve a problem that is now beginning to keep the members awake o' nights, There will be, when all the bills are paid, from $5,000 to 510,000 in the treasury. That is the estimate that has been made by those conversant with the business. What is to be done with that money? That is the question. A solution is furnished the committee in the proposition to turn this entire sum over to the committees that may be appointed to have charge of the arrangements of the entertainment of the National Republican and Democratic Conventions. The money was contributed by business men for the purpose, and money will be needed to entertain them. No better disposition for $5,000 could be found than as the nucleus for the entertainment of the delegates to the conventions. The Democrats have been quietly working for some time, and have secured such piedges as convince them they will succeed in bringing the National Democratic Convention to St. Louis. Large numbers of people will be brought to the city by both conventions, and their entertainment in a proper manner will cost a considerable sum of money. The Saengerfest will be held in St. Louis next fail, and a considerable sum will be needed then. For the three great national gatherings sufficient money can be raised in St. Louis quicker than in any other city on earth; but business men who have had to do with the collection of public funds agree the work would be much lightened if an amount as large as the Grand Army entertainment fund surplus could be obtained as a basis upon which to build the funds necessary for the two great national conventions.

S. W. CORR
of the arrangements committee, to whose attention the proposition was brought this morning, said: "It is the best disposition that could be made of the money, and I am in favor of it. The money was contributed by the business men of St. Louis for the entertainment of the guests of St. Louis. The delegates to the Republican and Democratic conventions will be guests of the city just as much as were the members of the G. A. R. I have been thinking ever since I saw the statement in the Post-Dispatch that there would be a a surplus, and no plan that has occurred to me has been so satisfactory as this. It will be an application of the money for a business purpose, and nothing can be said against it by any of the contributors. If the money is not to be expended in that way it should be returned to the people who created the fund by their subscriptions. I think when the matter is brought to the attention of the business men they will agree that no better use could be made of the money."

The REPUBLICANS
have begun work. A sub-committee was appointed by Chairman Henderson on Thursday evening to prepare a circular letter to be sent to the members of the National Republican Committee, and the following was drawn up by them. It will be signed by all the members of the committee of twenty-seven and sent out to-morrow:

The Republicans of the city, in a formal way strongly reinforced by an influential public sentiment, without regard to party affiliations, have instructed us to solicit from you as a member of the Republican National Committee your support and influence to have the city of St. Louis selected as the place of the meeting of the next Republican National Convention.

In the discharge of his duty we present to you the following, as a few of the considerations which we believe should prevail in securing your earnest co-operation.

1. The locality is central and of easy access.

2. No Republican National Convention has ever been held West of the Mississippi River while the territory embraces with two or three

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. LEXINGTON, Mo., October 28 .- In the Calla han murder case the jury, which has been out since 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, filed into court at 10 o'clock this morning, and in response to the query as to whether a verdict had been reached. Foreman Fred Smith said: "No.s"; nor is it possible to arrive at one. We would like to be discharged." The Court refused to discharge the jury, and ordered them to return to their room for further deliberation.

Indianapolis, Ind., October 28 .- The News special from Muncle, Ind., says: Last night, near New Burlington, eight miles south of here, Ped Sheckley shot James Carrey twice, inflicting wounds from which he died in a few hours. Sheckley then placed the revolver to his own head and fired, killing himself instantly. Carrey was the father-in law of Sheckley and the tragedy was the result of an old grudge between the two men.

A BOUNDARY OUESTION. Mr. Gerardi Proposes to Cut Off Part of the Globe-Democrat Building.

Having had the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH visited upon them, much to their discom fiture, the proprietors of the Globe-Democrat are now threatened with another misfortune. Some time ago Joseph Gerardi obtained possession of the ground just east of the Globe-Democrat office on Pine street, formerly the site of De Bar's Theater, afterward the Theater Comique. It was his intention to build a restaurant building, one story in height, upon this ground. The Globe-Democrat, with customary inaccuracy, announced that Mr. Girardi ary inaccuracy, announced that Mr. Girardi intended putting up a large hotel on the property. The statement caused Mr. Gerardi some annoyance, because his friends have since that time continually guyed him about his selection of a hotel site in so narrow a street. Now Mr. Gerardi has ample opportunity to "get even." if what Surveyor Pitzman tells him is true. Mr. Pitzman has laid off the ground on which Mr. Gerardi is preparing to build his restaurant and he says that the Globe-Democrat building extends eleven and

"That building has got to come off my ground," said Mr. Gerardi this morning. "I "That building has got to come off my ground," said Mr. Gerardi this morning. "I know my rights and I am going to have thein. I want to use that piece of ground, I don't know what the Globe-Democrat will do and I don't care. I am woing to have my rights before they are outlawed. In the days when these buildings were put up people were afraid to spend a little money to see that their lines were right. I have paid $50 to find where my line is, and now I am going to have my property.

D. M. Houser, President of the Globe Printing Company, when asked about the matter, stated that Mr. Gerardi had never spoken to him on the subject. Their ground had been surveyed in 1884, when the building was erected, and their lines were all right. Mr. Houser also made some remarks not altogether complimentary to Mr. Gerardi.

Robert Graham of Deadwood, Dak., remarked yesterday: "The cave that occurred last Tuesday in the Iron Hill mine, some nine miles from Deadwood, instead of heing a misfortune was worth at least $13,000 to the owners of that mine. The cave was from the hanging wall, which was the hardest to mine, only Cornish miners, of whom we have a number reserved especially for this kind of work, being able to work overhead with any effect. The cave threw into the 100-foot level many thousand tons of ore, which now can simply be carried out and sent to the mill. If any one had been in the mine at the time of the slide, for it was a slide rather than a cave, it would have been most unfortunate, but as it was the accident was of great advantage to the mine, and will increase largely the November dividend."

Bruckner, a German aged 35, employed in the barb-wire mill, while temporarily insane, made an attempt at midnight to kill his wife, but she succeeded in escaping from the house. Bruckner then deliber tely cut the arteries of his wrists and his the at from ear to ear, dying in half an hour. See came here from Cleveland, O., in March.

Superintendent Foster of the Yavapai writes that he has taken out in the 300-foot level thirty tons of ore that will go 250 ounces. All the stopes are looking well. The stope in the sounce sold the north winze and is producing a good quality of ore, which he thinks will care the sold of the north winze and is producing a average over 100 ounces. BYRON DREW A KNIFE,

But Constable Murphy's Lieutenant Laid Him Cold With a Billy.

A few days ago Constable Ed Murphy went to levy on the team and wagon of Paddy Byron, sometimes called "Lord Byron," a well-known politician who has a good backing in the Patch. Byron is a driver for Spilling's Pork House and owns his own team and wagon. Murphy and Foley, with the confidence of those who have the law behind them, went up to Byron's and just as he was coming out with his team took their places at the nead of the horses and called upon Byron to give up his property in the name of the law. This did not exactly suit Mr. Byron's ideas, and he began to object in strong terms, and warned the constable and his man to let the horses alone and go about their business. This they positively refused to do, and Byron, getting mad, drew a knite, so Mr. Foley says, and jumped off the wagon and made for him, threatening to cut out his heart, or something of the sort. Mr. Foley let go and laid out Mr. Byron, who is now in bed from the results of the City Counselor Bell has prepared an ordinance at the request of Councilman Blakely, the purpose of which is to hold a special election on the last Tuesday in February, 1888, at which an amendment to the city charter is to be submitted to the voters, which provides that the cost of sprinkling the streets and public places of the city shall thence forward be levied as a special tax by the front foot on property fronting or bordering on the street or public place sprinkled. In his report to the Mayor, Harbor Commis sioner Murphy states that at the Waterways Convention, held at Memphis on the 20th and sioner Murphy states that at the Waterways Convention, held at Memphis on the 20th and 21st inst., a radical departure was taken in that portion of the resolutions which advised that full and unqualified support be given to the river and harbor bill annually introduced into Congress. The resolutions state in effect that this is the only way in which the West, Northwest and Southwest can hope for the appropriations needed for the proper improvement of the Western waterways system. The plan heretofore has been for independent measures to be introduced into Congress and an attempt made to force lexislation upon the merits of the improvements required. This has been found to be a failure, and if the resolutions are viewed favorably by the Members of Congress in this valley one may expect to see a new line of policy adopted with regard to waterways legislation.

He also refers to the fact that we have in this State the Missouri, Osaze and Gasconade Rivers, all navigable or capable of being made so permanently, and all tributary directly or collaterally to the Mississippi, which flows from the northern to the southern border of the State, adding millions of dollars annually to the commerce of St. Louis. The Illinois River, he states, is also directly tributary to us and of great importance to the Marine and Mercantile interests of the city. He suggests that Mavor Francis, because of his position as Chief Executive is in a position to take a leading part in the work of the improvements of the Western waterways.

will be substantially those of the Western Union."

A gentieman somewhat conversant with the goesip regarding telegraph matters, said to the reporter: "The existence of such a combine as you mention would be a hard thing to demonstrate, and especially would it be "o hard to associate Garrett with the scheme, as he is substantially out of the telegraph business. It is barely possible that Stokes and Mackay have made a coalition extraordinary. Mackay virtually owns the United Lines and, perhaps, with the capital he and Stokes represent, they could run the United Lines in lively opposition to the Western Union long enough to make a depreciation to serve the purposes of heavy speculation. But for all purposes of competition Gould's new acquired property is available. Perhaps it is not true, but I have heard it on good authority that the Press Association had combined to purchase the Baltimore & Ohio for their own uses and would have done it in a week or more, but Gould shut them out. Now, when he gobbled up the Baltimore & Ohio for their own uses and would have done it in a week or more, but Gould shut them out. Now, when he gobbled up the Baltimore & Ohio merchants who had been set against Western Union would run to the United Lines. But the fact that the rates to be made are to conform nearly to those of the Western Union would make it look more as if there was an all-around compact to raise the telegraph tolls."

A Water Famine Almost Imminent-No Water on Monday.

outh in Belleville is becoming alarming. The water company is no longer able to furnish the needed supply of water and consumers are dependent entirely upon wells and cisterns of which there are a great many in the city, but in which the supply is limited. Should there be no rainfall before Bunday the water in all the wells and cisterns will be exhausted and the city will be without water. The Nail-Mills and other large manufactories will very likely have to close down Monday. There is yet a little water left in the reservoir of the system of the little water securitionals. Security and the city water left in the reservoir of the system of the case relating to the injunction against taking up the lives & Stayner securities. and cisterns of which there are a great many in the city, but in which the supply is limited. Should there be no rainfall before Sunday the water in all the wells and cisterns will be exhausted and the city will be without water. The Nail-Mills and other large manufactories will very likely have to close down Monday. There is yet a little water left in the reservoir of the company but Superintendent Stookey published a notice to consumers to-day, in which the stated that the supply for domestic and manufacturing purposes would be shut off and what water there was left be kept to supply the city in case of a fire. The truth is that there is hardly enough water in the reservoir to put out the fire in an engine, but Superintendent Stookey will not confess this for fear the City Council would cut off payment for the plugs. The chief engineer of the Water Company who is in New York, has been sent for and will arrive Sunday, and whatever can be done to increase the supply will be undertaken regardless of expense. It is more than likely that an attempt will be made to fill the reservoir from the perpetual spring at O'Fallon.

A Peculiar Woman's Mania for Plainness Collecting Funds for the New York Camof Expression Get Her Into Trouble.

Post-office Inspector McAfee leaves to-day By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch. for Abingdon, Va., to assist in the prosecu-tion of Mrs. Elmina D. Slenker, who is charged with violating the statute against the transmission of obscene literature through the mails. This is one of the most noted cases that the Government has prosecuted since Heywood was arrected some years ago in New York for circulating free love books by means of the mails. It then resolved itself into a contest between the law and free-lovers, and the same issue has been raised in this case, as the free-lovers of New York have raised funds and hired counsel to defend the woman. Mrs. Sienker is widely known as a writer of infidel and free-love books. She seems to be utterly wanting in reverence. When Inspector McAfee had her given a preliminary examination showed this was offered the Bible to kiss, as is the custom in Virginia. "Take it away," she cried scorniully. "I care nothing for God, man or the devil." Her examination showed this reverence. When inspector McAfee had her given a preliminary examination she was offered the Bible to kies, as is the custom in Virginia. "Take it away," she cried scornfully. "I care nothing for God, man or the devil." Her examination showed this for she read the most condemnable portions of her latest book before the room full of men without a blush. She is a very remarkable woman and is busy all day long writing and formulating her theories. Her husband is the owner of several mills and is very well off. He has no sympathies with his wife svagaries and when she was put in juil he refused to go on her bond. She is about 60 years of age and claims to be teaching the truth. The Post-office authorities believe that the woman's radicalism has developed a mania for plain and direct methods of speech. DOUBLE WARNINGS.

The Signal Office Will Use Two Cold Wave Flags and a Night Signal.

Observer Chappel is determined to run the Signal Office on a broader gauge than it has been in the past. He does not believe that the single cold wave flag on the Court-bouse is sufficient. It has been in the past. He does not believe that the single cold wave flag on the Court-house is sufficient warning, and so he will this winter fly a simiwarning, and so he will this winter fly a similar banner from the Custom-house. This double arrangement gives those traveling east and west as good a chance to get their atmospheric bearings as those going north and south by the Ceurt-house. He is also planning to have a night-signal of the approach of a cold wave, which will probably be a colored light suspended in the cupola of the Custom-house. Heretofore if the cold-wave flag was ordered up only a few minutes before dark, nobody would know anything about it till they came v anything about it till they came

THE DOOMED "REDS."

ARGUMENTS BEFORE THE UNITED STATES

Attorney-General Hunt Gives Up the Remainder of His Time to States-Attorney Grinnell of Chicago—The Latter Talks on the Composition of the Jury-Gen. Butler Closes for the Defense and Objects to Grinnell's Speech.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 28 .- When the United States Supreme Court assembled at noon to-day Mr. Attorney-General Hunt of Illinois said that as he had practically concluded his argument when the court adjourned vesterday afternoon he would not speak further, but would allow his associate, Mr. Grinnell, to continue the argument in opposition to the motion for a writ of error.

Mr. Grinnell said that it had not been his intention to take part in the oral argument, but having some familiarity with the case, he would make a few suggestions, particularly with reference to the composition of the jury. After reviewing briefly the ground covered by the argument of Attorney-General Hunt yesterday, Mr. Grinnell said that so far as the composition of the jury was concerned, there was only one man on it to whom any objection was raised by the defense, and that was the man Sanford, who was the last juror selected. An attempt had been made, he said, to show that another juror named Denker had also been objected to, but in reply to that it was only necessary to say that at the time the juror, Denker, was accepted the defense had the right to make 142 peremptory challenges. If they had objected to him very strongly they might have used one of these peremptory challenges to exclude him. After reviewing at some length the cases of Jurors Denker and Sanford Mr. Grinnell said that every man on the jury was duly qualified under the common law. It was, he said with some feeling, a representative American jury, as good and Intelligent a jury as was ever looked upon; it was in no sense a class jury. Three of the jurymen were men who isbored with their hands. One of them was a man of foreign birth, and there was not a capitalist among them. With regard to the "unreasonable search and seizure." Mr. Grinnell said he did not desire, and this was not the place, to apologize for anything that he had done in this case. He believed, now-ever, that it had always been regarded as proper to deprive a criminal of the instruments of his crime and to use such instruments as evidence against him. It had been done when the pistol was taken by force from the assassin Guiteau, and, if he remembered rightly, Guiteau's papers had also been seized. said that every man on the jury was announced its decision in the Cincinnati, Ham-

the assassin Guiteau, and, if he remembered rightly, Guiteau's papers had also been seized.

He recited the history of the bomb-throwing in Chicago and enumerated the articles, such as bombs, dynamite, etc., which belonged to Spies, Lingg and others of the Anarchists, and which had been taken, not from their private boxes but from their Arbeiter Zeitung office—the headquarters of the Anarchist party. He maintained that the question was not how did these articles get before the court, but what did they prove, and again referred to the case of Ker vs. the People of Illinois, cited by the Attorney General of that State yesterday.

BUTLER'S ARGUMENT.

After speaking about forty minutes, Mr. Grinnell closed and Gen. Butier rose and objected to the latter part of Mr. Grinnell's argument on the ground that it went outside of the printed record and brought in extraneous matter to which no reference had before been made; that this extraneous matter must be popular with the court or its introduction would not be permitted. He and his associates had been taken by surprise and he must ask more time in order to go into the case fully and show that the facts stated by Mr. Grinnell were not in the record. If he should be wrong, he hoped that he would be corrected by men who did not advocate and defend man-stealing and property stealing. Mr. Butler at 1:20 was still speaking. the Common Pleas Court to-day by the payment of the small amount of costs remaining. The suit, which is similar to others begun in New York and Pennsylvania, was brought in 1881 by Jas. McHenry and John Chas. Conybeare for themselves and others, holders of certificates issued in exchange for bonds and shares of the Atlantic & Great Western Railroad Company, against Charles E. Lewis, J. Lockington Bates and others, and the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio Railroad Company. In October, 1881, the case was sent from the Common Pleas to the United States Circuit Court, which promptly returned it to the Common Pleas spain. Robert G. Ingersoll and other famous attorneys have been engaged in the case. It is said that the alleged certificates of exchange, which constituted the basis of the suit, are valueless. The attention required of the attorneys who remain in the case became irksome, and at last a proposal was made by the defense to pay the costs if the plaintiffs would consent to the dismissal of the action. This was agreed to, and the costs, which amounted the only $134.80, were pried, and the case closed. There is nearly a cart-load of depositions and other legal documents connected with the suit, which are on file in the office of the County Clerk. A DASTARDLY DEED. A Train On the Rock Island Road Wrecker Near Joliet,

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch. JOLIET, Ill., October 28.—A dastardly case of train-wrecking occurred on the Bock Island road early this morning between Joliet and 2 a. m. was thrown from the track, piling the cars in such a manner as to completely block the road for several hours. The villains piled some timbers and telegraph poles across the track, which derailed the locomotive, and which hurled the cars upon and around the en-gine, killing almost instantly Engineer John Mills and his fireman and severely injuring the head brakeman, who was discov ered pinioned among the debris where he had been held for two hours. wrecking relief train to clear the tracks was sent from Chicago. The deed was committed in the locality where the great express robbery occurred two years ago, in which Messenger Nichols lost his life.

Later Details. JOLIET, Ill., October 28 .- A telegraph pole laid across the Rock Island Rail-road between Menooka, and Morris, this morning about 3 o'clock, wrecked Freight train No. 16. Engineer John Mills and Fireman Orff were instantly killed and the head brakeman was fatally injured. The miscreants doubtless intended to wreck the Kansas City express, due here at 4:20 a.m. The passenger train was fifteen minutes late, and the freight pulled out ahead to run to Menooka, striking the obstruction with the result as stated.

GREAT EXCITEMENT. LATER-Excitement here over the Rock Island wreck continues to grow since it has been befinitely ascertained that the construction was placed on the track with the deliberate purpose of wrecking the passenger train. The excitement is augmented by the growing belief that the Schwartz-Watt express-car mur der and robbery gang planned the crime. Large rewards have already been offered by the Rock Island Company and detectives are on the ground.

THE WIND DID IT.

A Popular Delusion Dispelled by Science of a comparison of the city and the Forest Park weather observations. There is a pop-ular belief that the wind has no nlar belief that the wind has no effect upon thermometrical readings. This has been completely upset by the readings of this week. Tuesday night when it was so cold it was 24 deg. In the city and 22 deg. In the Park. The wind at both places was about the same. But the next night, Wednesday, the reading was 33 deg. In the city and 20 in the park, a difference of thirteen degrees. Observer Chappel explains this by the fact that it was almost a dead calm in the city while at the park there was a steady ten-mile wind. The heat of the city's buildings accumulated during the day not being carried off by any wind the thermometer was materially affected.

The thermometer rose to 69 degs. here today, the highest it has been for a week. As the lowest was 38 deg. at 6a. m., the daily range of 31 deg., unusually great, is recorded. To-morrow will be as warm if not warmer. There is no sign of rain.

MURDERED AND SHIPPED.

THE clearness and brilliancy of handsome cut glass is always impaired if washed with soap containing resin, which invariably leaves a thin semi-transparent coating in the grooves of furrows, giving the article the appearance of cheap moulded glassware. IVORY SOAP contains no resin, is easily rinsed off, and if used with tepid water and a soft brush, will give your cut glass that clearness and brilliancy which produce the beautiful prismatic effects.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

A legal fight over a fee is now in progress b tween F. G. Cockerell and Mortimore Millard, two prominent attorneys of St. Clair County, and is attracting much attention from the members of the bar. It seems that about eighteen months ago Millard had a suit pendighteen months ago Millard had Another basis for this impression was the testimony of John D. Perry before the committee of the Municipal Assembly having under consideration the terminal bill. One gentleman remembered hearing Mr. Perry say that he was going to New York to raise the money for the bridge and he hoped to take the assurance of a terminal franchise with him. Another gentleman who was present at most of the hearings say Mr. Perry place his hand on his breast pocket, and heard him say at the same time that he had contracts there for several million dollars, presumably for the construction of a bridge. It was at this time that Mr. Johnson, attorney for the Main street property-owners, made merry with Mr. Perry by inquiring whether these millions included the money for the construction of the Missouri Central road.

SOUTHERN FORESTRY CONGRESS. An Interesting Letter Received From Jeffer

Davis was read:

Davis was read:

Sidney Root, Esq.:

Dear Sim—Please accept my thanks for the reports you have sent me of the proceedings of the Forestry Congress. By a brief compliance with your request, I will endeavor to show my grateful acknowledgment of your mosideration. The subject to which the attention of your association is directed has long commanded my deep interest and it has grieved me to see, as is too often the case, the danger that delay of appropriate remedies has created. In 1850 there were, between the Upper Mississippi and thing read takes, the greatest orests of mast timber to be found east of the Rocky Mountains. Now they are said to have been quite destroyed. Would it not be better to transfer the control of the public lands to the States in which they lie? Agents of equal capacity with those heretofore employed might be obtained and the State supervision would have the prompting of a direct interest and greater racilities for information. The Northwestern States should preserve their forests as they have the best mist timber now growing. Beyond the preservation of timber for mechanical and domestic uses, there are climatic and colors to the states and domestic uses, there are climatic and other considerations of grave importances. But it isn't. It is only a little paragrage:

With gratification I have noticed the noble purposes of your association, contrasting so nonorably with selfish aims of partisan strite and with cordist wishes for the success of the forestry concress.

ROMEO'S ROUTINE.

SCENES AND INCIDENTS IN A MARRIAGE

The Prosale Path Trodden by Lovers-No More of the Old Romance—The Autocrat of the Court-House—A Body-Snatcher's ow can I get married?" is the commonest question that the Recorder of Deeds and marriage licenses has to answer.

"First. you must make sure "First, you must make sure which would pass as a witticism probably anywhere Recorder's Office, where it causes a look of pain and weariness to pass That the same question and the same answer will not torment generations to come there is little hope. There seems to be as much ig norance of the way to get into the earthly heaven as there is of entering the celestial paradise. Therefore, it is not strange that the blind, but is a fool, too."

There was a time, though, when getting married was as simple as falling off the proverbial log. That was before 1881. All a person had to do then was to make sure of the girl and the preacher, and the deed was done. binding two loving hearts without red tape. "Blest be the tie that binds" has given way to "Blest be the tape that binds." Since that date 50,000 hearts have been linked together, at least 25,000 pieces of tape have been pur chased, and it would be an impeachment of that all the knots were not tied.

That cruel law took a great deal of the ro-mance out of weddings. Instead of catching one's girl as she threw herself out of the window and dashing through the darkness to a preparations as deliberately as if it were any other other business transaction. After getting the girl, which, thank heaven, is done in the same old way, one must take her down to the license office. It wasn't so until very recently, and is due entirely to Recorder Hobbs' order. He is a young man, and of course has not forgotten the ways of the boys. The risk was so great in issuing licenses to ladies represented by proxy that he made an order that both proxy that he made an order that both where the proxy is a speak of the proxy is a speak of the same of the proxy is the Wednesday where the proxy is the Wednesday of the same of the wednesday is the biggest day neighboring parson, one has to go about the In the marriage department of his office the Recorder is a regular autocrat. The law allows him to make himself absolutely secure before issuing a license. So if one of the par-ties looks under age the Recorder can refuse the license until the age is proved up. As he is liable to a criminal fine of $500 and a suit for damages if he issues a license to persons un-der age, the law leaves nearly everything to his own judgment. Well, when both parties appear at the office they must swear that they are single and of his own judgment.

Weil, when both parties appear at the office they must swear that they are single and of marriageable age. If first cousins they can marry, but cannot if more closely related. If one of the parties is colored the color must be less than an eighth. A man's marriageable age is 21; a woman's 18. These facts are testified to by signing an application and affidavit all in one, which is sworn to. The license, for which a fee of $1$ is charged, is then issued. The affidavit is at once entered in a large ledger, properly indexed, so that it can be referred to at once in case of legal dispute. The license, after the ceremony is performed, must be returned within ninety days to the Recorder's office by the person solemnizing the marriage.

No couple ever takes this step, which excites more heart throbs than any other process known to law, without coming in contact with the "body-snatcher," the rather sepulchral name given to the indi-

Well, let me show you to one," and the couple, too happy in each other, overlook his nerve and follow him to his favorite Justice, where all three are made happy. Johnny only waits long enough to get a "divvy" and then he files back to his post. Although these "snatchers" were a great annoyance when they were thick as files, and though Johnnie sometimes is admonished to "get out and save your face," he is a great convenience to couples who stray in from outside the city. A big city seems to attract couples from all the neighboring towns. What it is that draws them is unknown to the most careful student of human nature, but they come all the same. The Recorder often comes near being victimized. Not long ago a young couple came in, and as he knew the young lady he accepted the statement of her age, but took the precaution of swearing her. The same day he found he had mistaken the youngest zirl in the family for the oldest. The girl's mother informed him of these facts in a cold way that pained him, especially when she said:

Centenary Southern Methodist Church, Six-Baptisms.' S. S. Jones will lead the singing.

Centenary Southern Methodist Church, Sixteenth and Pine streets, under Dr. Matthews, has come to have the largest church membership in the city. September 16 last it had on its rolls as actual members 926 persons. The net gain in the year was 234, a larger gain than the Harrison or Jones revivals brought the church. Not one Sunday in the year passed without additions. The activity of the church is something tremendous, There are six Sunday services, and twenty one during the week. No such work has been seen in a large church in this city. In a church with a membership of over six hundred, a net gain of over 35 per cent is something wonderful.

A more optimistic class of sermons may be rought home had it not been for the example brought home had it not been for the example of Rev. Dr. Currier of Oberlin College, who, while temporarily filling the pulpit at Pilgrim Church, became a regular patron of the gynnasium. He bore such high praise to its assistance to him intellectually that interest in consistent, intelligent exercise has been awakened. The large number of pastors who are continually complaining of this and that trouble at high them will no doubt be speedily cured by attending the classes.

AL FRESCO TRAGEDY.

Booth and Barrett Playing Under a Roof-less Theater in Kausas City. day. The house is the property of Col. George and his honor and the honor of all Kansas City were staked on the fact that the building, which is, or should be, five stories high, would be completed in time.

The opening took place on Tuesday night instead of Monday and the telegrams sent from Konsas City indicated that the opening was a grand success, the only drawback being the coolness of the auditorium, owing to a defect in the heating apparatus.

P. J. Toomey, the scenic artist who is painting the scenery, came down from Kansas City yesterday and told Mr. Levy of the Booth-Barrett Company all about it. When Mr. Levy left Kansas City a week ago the walls were not up and not a bit of plastering had been done, but Col. Warder was sanguine and declared that everything would be all right. Mr. Toomey says the walls are still not up, and Messrs. Booth and Barrett have been playing since Tuesday night without a roof on the theater, and the fresh breezes from the Kansas prairies have toyed with the curls of Mr. Barrett and the long ringlets of Mr. Barrett and the long ringlets of Mr. Barrett and the long ringlets of Mr. Booth, while it waved the togas of the supers and kissed the fair shoulders of the Kansas City beauties who braved the elements in full dress to see the distinguished actors.

At 6 o'clock Tuesday evening the house was full of scaffolding, and the new-laid plaster was wet and dripping. A force of 150 men made the scaffolding disappear like snow in the sun, and Col. Warder stood on the edge of the stage roof and superintended the job. At 9 o'clock the scaffolding was down and the doors were thrown open. The scenery was all ready, but only one set could be used and the entireplay of "Othello" was given with this one set. The actors wented to play in overcoats and seal-kin sacks but heavy woollens were substituted and the whole tragedy was given. A couple of big stoves were placed where the boxes ought to be, and the audience went and warmed up between the acts. Warmed apartments were provided for the stars. Many of the ladies had come out in full the steam heating pipes and pumped steam into the roofless theater. The tragedians had to play in the house, because there is a guarantee of $18,000 for the week. Enough seats have been sold to cover it.

The Sales of Cashmere Bouquet Exceeded in amount the importations of all toilet soaps, as shown by the U.S. 1886 Treasury reports.

Internally Injured.

Mr. Loudon McCormack, the actor, me with an accident last night. In company with his wife, Maud Miller, he went to the Main Street Depot last evening to take a Chicago train, and in taking a hurried leave of friends boarded the wrong train. Discovering his mistake at East St. Louis, he attempted to jump off and fell, receiving severe internal in-juries. He was brought back to his home in this city.

court. This was an application by Martha Bowles, the aunt of a little girl of 4 years, a half orphan, for an order of Court awarding her the custody, care and support of the child. The petition was directed against the father, a widower, residing at 2901 Gamble street, and the auntaileged that the little girl had suffered from exposure and harsh treatment at the hands of her father, and that she is the only person nearest of kin who could give the little one the care and nourishment needed in the case of her tender years.

The father entered a stout denial of the harsh treatment and insisted that as the male parent he was entitled to the custody of the child and was well able to take care of her. She was brought into court neatly attired and bore the appearance of some one's care and attention. After the first witness had left the stand the case was dismissed.

An answer to the amended petition in the Patrick-McManus family litigation was filed to-day in Judge Dillon's court. This is the suit of James M. Patrick, in the name of his child, Camilia, against his brother-in-law, Thomas Ward McManus, seeking to set aside the will of Mrs. Fan.

In the Patrick, nee Fannie McManus, were pending at the time of Mrs. Patrick's death, who died here in October, 1886. It will be remembered that divorce proceedings were pending at the time of Mrs. Patrick's death, here and in lowa over the possession of the child. The answer filed to-day denies that any conspiracy existed among Eleanor Wallence over the mind of Mrs. Patrick at the time that she appended her signature to the will admitted to probate and it denies that Robert S. MacDonaid or Sim T. Price were in her confidence in the matter.

The answer further denies that she was of unsound mind, but deciares that she was perfectly well, able to make suitable disposition of her sickness, and it is averred that the husband did not treat any time during her sickness, and it is averred that the husband did not treat a first the perfect over the rat 'any time during her sickness, and it is averred that the husband did not treat her with kindness or affection, and the property and did so, appointing Thos. To give force to a motion for a new trial in the insurance policy suit of Hannah Steiner against the Supreme Lodge, Knights and Laddes of Honor, the shorthand notes of the closing address of S. Hermann to the jury in behalf of the lodge were transcribed and filed in Judge Lubke's court to-day. The defense was a misrepresentation as to the age of the applicant, and counsel was proceeding to tell the jury that they could draw their own conclusion from testimony ruled out when the Court sharply rapped him over the knuckles and said that the E-stimony had been excluded on sufficient grounds, and if counsel objected his remedy was elsewhere. The jury could not violate their oaths by considering testimony ruled out.

NEW YORK, October 28 .- The next important western Union Company, was taken yesterday. An agreement was made between the Mutual Union, the fighting contingent of the Western Union Company, and the Postal Telegraph Company, which now represents the only opposition. Mr. Gould said, in reply to an inquiry whether the agreement meant the absorption of the Mackay land and ocean lines: "I guess not. As I understand the situation, the Mutual Union and the Postal Companies have agreed to advance rates to something near our tariff. They have been fighting each other, but the Western Union is not greatly interested. I have not heard of any advance in cable rates."

It is understood that the advance in land rates on the Postal Lines will carry with it the abolition of rebates, and that all the competitive ten and fifteen rates will be given up, and the new schedule will agree very nearly with the Western Union.

Special dispatches to the Herald from Richmond, Alexandria, Fredericksburg, Pestersburg, Portsmouth and other points in the Southern Telegraph Company are to be closed in all cities of the South reached by the Southern lines. A few hundred more operators will be thrown out and the rates in that territory will be fixed by the Western Union. day. An agreement was made between the hesitate to follow them without a single call from the driver, no matter what the weather may be. It is only necessary to keep your dog in the stable and he very soon becomes acquainted, so to speak, with the horses, and though you might change drivers every day of the year and carriages fully as often it would make no drivers every day of the year and carriages fully as often, it would make no difference to the dog, He would want to go out every time the horses were harnessed. Do they have preferences in the matter of horses? Well, I should say. I have one young dog who has a particular liking for a chestnut mare of mine, and the friendship is mutual, too, for the mare would hate very much to go out without the dog and would make a fuss over it if his companionship were denied her; but the greatest interest in the matter is, of course, taken by the dog. When the harness are taken down by the stable boy he is all attention, and if one is placed on the chestnut the dog manifests his delight by bouncing about the stable, barking and opening his mouth in a big dog-grin. But if this favorite's stall is not entered by the boy with the harness, then he is the soberest dog you ever saw. He suddenly loses all interest in the proceedings' and lies down with a disappointed air.

"How much are my dogs worth? Well, if I were to sell them I should want at least $200 each, but I suppose you could buy other dogs much cheaper. Still, I have known owners of very pretty earriage dogs who held their animals much higher than mine, though possibly for the reason that they were not for sale."

HOGS—The market to-day was fairly well supplied, the demand was active and prices about the same as during the past two or three days. Packers were liberal buyers and the competition between them was sufficiently sharp to enable salesmen to obtain strong prices, the range paid being from $4.4044.65. Butchers were in light attendance and sales were small at $4.6044.70. Shippers, however, were quite well supplied with orders which were generally filled at prices ranging from $4.4044.30 for yorker weights, and $4.1044.25 for pigs. Trade moved along briskly all the morning, and before foon about everything had changed hands at the figures given above. UNION STOCK YARDS.
